

COCOA XO

Taking the XO (Extra Old) from Cognac and applying it to Cocoa, which provides a brand which is both sophisticated and mature. It conjures in the imagination images of a luxurious members club with a twist of contemporary and playfulness that matches our clientele.

Cacao Barry

For over 175 years

As former coffee and tea merchant, the Barry family set the standard in 1842 by travelling to Africa to seek out and harvest a selection of cocoa beans to transform them into the most refined and delicate cocoa and chocolate products. Bought by the enterprising La carré family in 1923, the company was catapulted into the international arena, while further investing in cocoa plantations, factories and communities in both Africa and South America.

Cognacs

Cognac is a variety of brandy named after the commune of Cognac, France. It is produced in the surrounding wine-growing region. Cognac production falls under French Appellation d'Origine Contrôlée designation, with production methods and naming required to meet certain legal requirements. Among the specified grapes, Ugni blanc, is most widely used. The brandy must be twice distilled in copper pot stills and aged at least two years in French oak barrels .

The official quality grades of Cognac are:

V.S. (Very Special) or ★★★ (three stars)

Blend in which the youngest brandy has been stored for at least two years in cask.

V.S.O.P. (Very Superior Old Pale) or Reserve

Blend in which the youngest brandy is stored for at least four years in a cask.

Napoléon

Blend in which the youngest brandy is stored for at least six years.

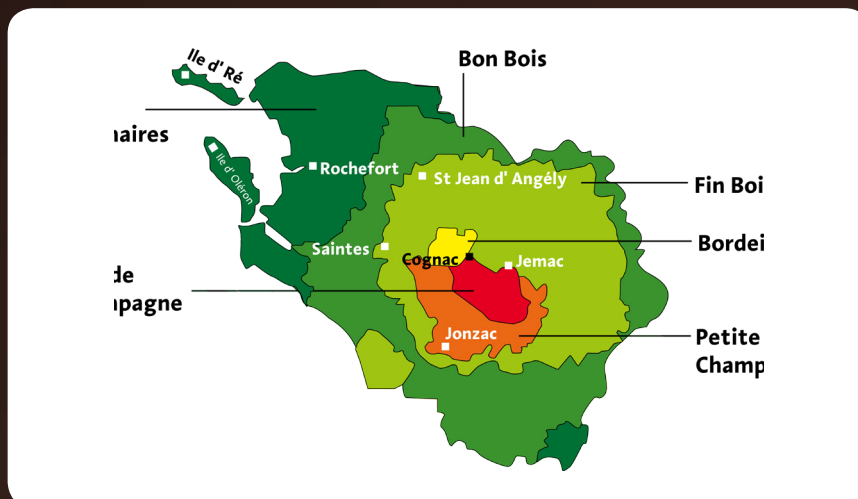

XO (Extra Old)

Blend in which the youngest brandy is stored for at least ten years.

Hors d'âge (Beyond Age)

Equal to XO, in practice the term is used by producers to market a high-quality product beyond the official age scale.

Cognac is also classified by “crus”, tightly defined geographic denominations where the grapes are grown. Their distinctive soils and microclimates produce “eaux de vie” with characteristics particular to their specific location as below. From the center, “Les Borderies” have the best potential of aging and the “Bois Ordinaires the less”.
